Customizable to address your unique needs

The training that we provide for educators, law enforcement, counselors, and others dedicated to public safety is unique; our message is powerful and thought provoking. Our training programs not only assist the professional in dealing with and protecting their community and workplace, they also address issues directly affecting you as a professional.

Whether you are navigating cyberbullying issues amongst students, managing violent threats and subjects of concern, our program can address these topics. Our professional development sessions are engaging, topical and more importantly, tailored to your individual requirements.

What attendees are saying about TSS's professional training programs

"The information presented is a great additional tool for parents and kids to learn about social media and cyberbullying. The information can help parents stay ahead in helping keep their kids safe and also save a child from possible suicide from bullying." - Kenneth P. (Law Enforcement Officer)

"Clay is an excellent teacher. He keeps the class moving. Content is so impressive that you never drift from the topic. Best I've ever attended." - Mike D. (Educator)

Social Media: Investigations, Threats, and Solutions

This course explores the unique threats that exist online: cyberbullying, impersonation, identity theft, sexting, sexual predators, human trafficking, digital reputation management, pornography, and other high-risk behaviors. The second half of the class will show how popular social media applications can be used to aid in online investigations. This course can be taught in a 2, 4, or 8 hour block of training depending on the needs of your organization.

Active Shooter Prevention and Response Training

The instructor, a former juvenile investigator and behavioral threat assessor, will uses their real-life experience to train your staff members how to identify the warning signs that an individual is on a path to violence, stopping the violent act before it begins. This training includes methods for staff members to remain vigilant and prepared for an active threat, intervention strategies, de-escalation, and how to react to an active shooter event. Active Shooter Response Training is scaled and tailored to the unique aspects of your school, business, and/or clientele.

Behavioral Threat Assessment and Management

In this 8-hour course, you will learn a threat assessment-intervention model that can be used by educators, law enforcement officers, mental health professionals, and others involved in school safety. This course outlines a methodical procedure for evaluating a threat and the person making the threat, with the aim of reaching an informed judgment on the danger that threat and how to manage the subject of concern. The procedure presented in this course can help schools and law enforcement assess a threat and the threatener, evaluate the risk, and respond appropriately and effectively.
